Roy Witman, Vice President of Cruise Vacation Center, a New York-based cruise planning firm, helps clients navigate the details of finding the cruise that's perfect for them. Just in time for vacation season, here are ten tips for planning the cruise that's right for you.

Yonkers, NY (PRWEB) April 24, 2008 -- Pleasure cruising is a nearly 200-year-old concept. Since its inception, the idea of customer comfort has evolved from having a cow on board to provide fresh milk in 1840 to an industry filled with extravagant "floating" hotels, equipped with every imaginable amenity and luxury.

“ Everyone focuses on destination, which is an essential piece, but - as the vintage cruise ship ads state 'Getting there is half the fun,' ”

Witman and his crew at Cruise Vacation Center have booked in excess of 100,000 cruises, including, Royal Caribbean, European cruises, and Mediterranean cruises for clients since 1993 and always advise their clients on the following details:

Destination - Cruises offer something for everyone. Some vacations are designed to be family-friendly, while others are for couples or retirees. Before booking, take the time to talk with your travel agent about whom you'll be traveling with, their ages and the likes and dislikes of the group.

Diets - Virtually all major cruise lines can handle special dietary requests. Low-sodium, low-fat, low-sugar, low-carb, vegetarian, kosher and other types of meal services are available by request. You may want to make your special needs known when booking your cruise.

Seasickness - While modern ships feature technologically advanced stabilizers, for an extra precaution book a cabin near the center of the ship to alleviate as much motion as possible. In addition, it has been proven that you're least likely to get seasick when sailing in the Caribbean. The islands buffer the motion of the Atlantic Ocean, making the waters generally calm.

Carry-on - From the time you check your baggage until the time it is delivered to your stateroom may be several hours. Bring a small carry-on bag with a few necessities, such as a toothbrush, running shoes, swimsuit, a change of clothes, makeup and hair brush to start enjoying the vacation immediately.

Passport - Chances are, you will need a passport for your upcoming vacation. Many cruisers assume they can use a birth certificate because they have used one in the past. The U.S. Department of State is requiring all United States citizens traveling within the Western Hemisphere to carry a passport. This initiative requires passports for all travel (air/sea) to or from the Caribbean, Bermuda, and Central and South America. Processing time normally takes six weeks. Details and applications can be found online at www.travel.state.gov or at your local post office.
